Dear Dr. Fowler:

Thank you for your letter of November 7 to Secretary Baker regarding his visit to China and the human rights situation ther

We fully share your concern for the plight of dissidents in China who are imprisoned for nothing more than the non-violent expression of their political views. The Secretary's November 15-17 visit was an important part of the Administration's effort seek changes in China's human rights policies. Gains were made a result of the trip, though much remains to be done.

During the Secretary's visit, China for the first time provian accounting of the persons whose names were on a list submitted to the Chinese government in June. We welcome this step, but we continue to work for the ultimate goal of the release of all the imprisoned only for the non-violent expression of their politic or religious beliefs. We also raised specific cases of persons detained without trial, religious detainees, and those imprison in Tibet. We urged the Chinese to allow prison monitoring by to International Committee of the Red Cross.

In response to our representations, Chinese officials assur the Secretary that exit permits would be issued to persons who not have criminal charges pending against them.

Please be assured that we will continue to press for improvements in China's human rights situation, and the plight non-violent political dissidents in particular, until our concent have been resolved.

sincerely,

Robert M. Perito, Director Office of Chinese and Mongolian Affairs
